

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A distribution server distributes content including video data and slide data reproduced in synchronization with the video data, for a browsing client of a user having 5 permission for browsing the content stored in a distribution server. The content is allowed to edit in accordance with an access of a provider client having a permission for editing the content. The permission for browsing the content and the permission for editing the 10 content are designated by a management client.